TEXTILE SCHOOL GOT FLYING START

At Least 100 Men Matriculated in Night School for Mill Men Last Night

The textile night school, to be devoted to the mill workers of Anderson who are anxious to better fit themselves and better prepare themselves for their life work begun last night under most auspicious circumstances. The attendance at the first meeting was large—in fact it was much larger than has been expected and those who have been instrumental in inaugurating this innovation said last night that they felt much encouraged over the outlook. For the fact that the school will do much good cannot be doubted.

The meeting last night was held in Cecil's business school and was called to order promptly at 7:30 o'clock by F. M. Burnett, secretary of the Anderson Y. M. C. A., to whom is due the credit for starting the school. Mr. Burnett pointed out that conditions are rapidly changing, that where formerly the superintendents and overseers took up interest in their men, these same officials are now ready and willing to aid them in any way that they can. He introduced as the first speaker B. F. Mauldin.

Mr. Mauldin said that he had not at first believed very much in the efficacy of Y. M. C. A. work, but that Mr. Burnett had demonstrated to him wherein it was wrong. He said that in his opinion the man who led to work from six o'clock in the morning until six o'clock at night and had a family to support with it needed help of some kind and that in his opinion the textile school was the very thing to help these men. He reminded his hearers that there is always plenty of room at the top in any line of business and said that this was especially true of the cotton mill business.

F. J. Clark, superintendent of the Anderson Cotton Mills, said that many benefits would accrue from this textile school, not only to the men who attended it but to the officials and stockholders of the mill in which they were employed. He said that the cotton mill men did not desire to go out of the South to get men to take charge of their different departments if they could get them at home and said that it was merely a question for the men themselves to decide as to whether or not they would prepare themselves for these better positions.

Following the completion of the speech the entire party repaired to the Y. M. C. A., where the classes were organized and actual work taken up in earnest.

CIVIL COURT CAME TO END YESTERDAY

Bar Association Decided to Discontinue Courts on Account Recent Bereavement

Without any solicitation on the part of Judge John S. Wilson or any intimation on his part that such a step was desired, the Anderson county bar association held a meeting in the court house yesterday afternoon and the members decided they would inform the judge of their willingness to discontinue this term of court, this step being taken on account of Judge Wilson's recent bereavement in the loss of his younger son, W. H. Ingram, who was one of those lost when the passenger steamer Monroe sank in Chesapeake Bay on January 30. It is understood that Judge Wilson is suffering severely from the shock and the local attorneys appreciated the fact that it is Judge Wilson's duty to be with his wife at the time. Therefore, at the meeting held yesterday there was not a dissenting voice raised when this step was proposed. The business of the local calendar for the remainder of yesterday was completed and court was last night declared adjourned.

Going To One Fire; Discovered Another

While answering a fire alarm to Blackley street yesterday afternoon, the hook and ladder truck was forced to come to an abrupt halt by a lady who appeared to be almost frantic, waving her apron from side to side, and screaming at the top of her voice, meanwhile standing directly in front of the fast moving fire wagon. Hook and ladder boys pulled up, stepped up and the lady pointed out that the residence of E. T. Anderson was then on fire. The automobile truck turned on to the other fire on Blackley street and the blaze at Mr. Anderson's house was easily extinguished by the hook and ladder forces. Chief Jackson said last night that this was the most exciting fire in the history of the town since the year 1890.

GEN. BONHAM NOT TO ATTEND

GEN. BONHAM The "Golden Jubilee" of the Knights of Pythias of Washington, to be held at the New Willard hotel at Washington tomorrow will be one of the biggest fraternal events of the year. Among the delegates appointed from South Carolina is the grand chancellor, Dr. Dick of Sumter, and Gen. Bonham had been invited to attend. It is possible for him to attend but he learned yesterday that a business trip to Florida would make it impossible. Gen Bonham left last night.

CAPTALIST IS HERE TODAY

Well Known Financier of Philadelphia is Spending Today in This City

Oris Mitchell, of the well known firm of Joseph E. Mitchell & Co., of Philadelphia, Pa., is spending today in Anderson as the guest of S. B. Gossett. Mr. Mitchell has many business interests in this section, being the president of the Pendleton Cotton mills and a director of the Riverside cotton mill. Yesterday he was at Pendleton for the purpose of attending the meeting of the board of directors of the Pendleton mill. Mr. Mitchell is said to be one of the best posted cotton mill men in the country and has an intimate knowledge of every detail of the business.

KNOW DEAD NAVY FLIER

B. B. Gossett and Lieut. J. C. Murray Were Classmates at U. S. Naval Academy

Of interest to Anderson people will be the fact that Lieut. J. C. Murray, a navy aviator who dropped 800 feet to instant death in Pensacola, Fla. last Monday night, and H. E. Gossett of this city were classmates at Annapolis and were personal friends. Lieutenants Murray was killed about 4 o'clock in a most spectacular tragedy. This was the first fatality that has occurred among the United States navy aviators since the station was established.

POULTRY DAY WAS DECIDED SUCCESS

Fowls of Every Variety Exhibited At the Chamber of Commerce All During Day

The holding of poultry day in connection with Farmers' Trades Day yesterday had been thought to be a happy idea by the farmers of the country and the people of Anderson who take an active interest in Trades Day exercises, but none of the anticipated for the event the success that was scored yesterday. All told there were 160 birds on exhibition, some of them being as fine specimens as were ever seen in Anderson and the prize winners were all creditable in every sense.

The invocation was delivered by Rev. Blackman of Honca Path and this was followed by a few short remarks from Prof. Hare of Clemson College. Hon. J. L. McGee of Starr, was the chairman for the day. The judges, John L. Jolly and Frank C. Hare, declared the following winners in the various classes: Class A. 1. PETITION DISMISSED IN LINDSAY-TOLLISON ROW

Judge Wilson yesterday heard in the Court of Common Pleas a petition presented by J. N. Lindsay, praying that E. T. Tollison be removed from the position on the county registration board for Anderson county and after considering all the evidence in the case, the court dismissed the petition. It seems that Mr. Tollison's term as a member of this board had expired and that Mr. Lindsay had been appointed, but owing to the fact that a misunderstanding had arisen Senator Sullivan made request that the appointment be reopened. Meanwhile, Mr. Tollison has been holding on to the position.

Radium Industry is Moving Right Along

Washington, Feb. 15.—Federal interference in the radium industry as proposed in pending bills, Monday was criticized as "paternalistic" government, offensive to 99 per cent. of the people by the "radium" committee headed by William H. King, former member of congress from Utah, before a senate subcommittee. Mr. King appeared for the American Radium Company of Pennsylvania, which he said had solved the problem of radium production within the last few months and would output 10 to 15 grams of the precious substance on the market this year. Other companies were forming and would form, he said, if the government kept its hands off, and the price of radium be fixed at close to its actual value by natural competition.

CHARLESTON ASKS ANDERSON'S AID

is Making An Effort to Get Branch Regional Bank for "City by the Sea"

Having stood by and helped Columbia in her fight for a regional bank, Charleston now asks her aid in the fight for a branch regional bank in her fight for a regional bank in every way possible and that aid should now be furnished her in the form of a branch bank. The telegram asked that Anderson best aid and assist Charleston in getting the desired recognition.

Secretary Whaley, when asked last night as to what the local chamber would do, said that he could not, of course, say what action the directors of the Anderson Chamber of Commerce would take, but that in his opinion the city would refer the request to the Anderson Chamber of Commerce and the Anderson Chamber of Commerce and the Anderson Chamber of Commerce would take the action recommended by that body.

CONFERENCE HELD REGARDING RATES

Representatives of South Carolina Cities Met in Columbia to Consider Freight Question

The Anderson Chamber of Commerce yesterday received advices from Charleston concerning the freight conference held in Columbia on Monday, at which time Anderson was represented by D. A. Henning.

The meeting was full of interest and those who attended were earnest in their efforts to outline some plan by which South Carolina cities may be enabled to get some just freight rates from the various railroads operating in the State. The meeting was opened with the selection of B. F. McLeod as chairman, who made a lengthy statement to the representatives present concerning the desired ends and what steps might be taken to attain them. The matter was gone into thoroughly and definite action determined upon following which various committees to assist in the work were appointed. On the executive committee is found Mr. Henning as president, that gentleman also being selected as permanent vice-president of the body and Mr. Whaley was made a member of the publicity committee.
